

KEITH SEARLE OUT

AFTER their 2-0 emphatic defeat at Enfield last week, Wycombe Wanderers will be anxious for a return to form tomorrow (Saturday) when they take on Bromley at Loakes Park in the Isthmian League.

But after returning to the side last week at Southbury Rd, Keith Searle, their centre forward is unavailable for tomorrow's match, which will probably mean Tony Amos, scorer of four goals in the 10-0 thrashing of Bournemouth Youth on Tuesday, will take his place along side Tony Horseman, who notched three goals. Rob Williams is also out.

Although the Blues signed on Kenny Swain on Tuesday evening after his first outing against Bournemouth, he will not be able to play until next Saturday.

Swain's performance on Tuesday suggested he has a great deal to offer Wanderers but as the opponents were so young and inexperienced, it would be unwise to judge a player on one game. Without a doubt, Bromley will prove far more physical and tougher tomorrow.

The visitors team news is that their Welsh international winger Tony Nantcurvis is unavailable. His place will go to one of the reserves.

Bromley will be looking to their young centre forward John Rains for goals. He was voted Young Player of the Year with Fulham last season and is their top scorer with seven. In the main, however, the Kent side have found scoring goals difficult and have mustered only 28 this season.

Their defence, however, are not as poor as their league position of 19th suggests. With brothers John and Mick Miles in the heart of the back line, they have let in 63 this term while Casuals, Oxford and Clapton have conceded over 80.

Recent results include a 3-0 win at St. Albans and a 3-1 home victory over Tooting and Mitcham. Bearing in mind that Wanderers could only beat Clapton 1-0 recently, they will have to fight hard again tomorrow.
